

Domain Expert Criteria for Mental Health

- Educational Background: Professors, PostDocs, senior PhD students, researchers, or professionals with a minimum of a master's degree in psychology, psychiatry, clinical social work, counseling, or related fields.
- Clinical/Research Expertise: Demonstrated clinical experience in the diagnosis and treatment of mental health disorders, substantiated by a background in patient care, documented case studies, or involvement in clinical trials.

OR

Established history of engaging in research within the realm of mental health, characterized by contributions to scientific literature and presentations of findings at conferences or seminars.

OR

Engagement in advocacy initiatives aimed at heightening awareness about mental health concerns, mitigating stigma, and fostering mental well-being.

OR

Any combination of the aforementioned options, totaling a minimum of 4 years encompassing the selected criteria.

- Therapeutic Modalities: Proficiency in various therapeutic approaches, such as cognitive-behavioral therapy (CBT), psychotherapy, mindfulness-based interventions, or other evidence-based treatments.
- Cultural Competence: Understanding of cultural, societal, and socioeconomic factors that influence mental health, and the ability to provide culturally sensitive care and insights.
- Innovation and Collaboration: Willingness to explore the ethical use of generative language technologies in counseling as well as addressing mental health challenges.